CITY GOVERNMENT

Norfolk is an independent, full-service city with sole local government taxing power within its boundaries. It derives its governing authority from a charter (the "Charter"), originally adopted by the General Assembly of Virginia in 1918, which authorizes a council-manager form of government. The members are elected to office under a ward-based system, with two members elected from City-wide super wards. The City Council elects a Mayor and a Vice-Mayor from among its members. Beginning July 1, 2006, as a result of a charter change approved by the Virginia General Assembly, Norfolk will swear in the first mayor elected at large. Among the City officials appointed by the City Council are the City Manager, who serves as the administrative head of the municipal government. The City Manager carries out the City's policies, directs business procedures and appoints, with the power to remove, the heads of departments and other employees of the City except those otherwise specifically covered by statutory provisions. The City Council also appoints certain boards, commissions and authorities of the City.

ECONOMIC AND DEMOGRAPHIC FACTORS

POPULATION

As reflected in the Table V-1, based on the 2000 Census, the population of the City has declined since 1970; a fact which can be attributed in part to the clearance and redevelopment of blighted areas and to a reduction in the birth rate. Norfolk is the second most populous city in Virginia, as shown in Table V-2.
